Wolf tank-Adisa Holding AG: Update on the situation in Italy

Possible Restrictions due to the Covid-19 Epidemic

Innsbruck (pta004/08.03.2020/12:06) - Wolf tank-Adisa Holding AG, based in Innsbruck, which is active in the field of environmental protection and tank refurbishment in Italy through its subsidiary Wolf tank Systems SpA, on the company's current situation in Italy: This morning, the Italian government, in an emergency decree issued by the Prime Minister in response to the coronavirus epidemic, decided on a sensitive extension of the "red zones" with immediate effect until 3 April, which could restrict the freedom of movement of construction crews in these regions.

The region of Lombardy and 14 other provinces are affected. A facilitating factor is that the interpretation of the exception "for urgent professional needs" is to include environmental damage and thus the projects currently being carried out by Wolf tank Systems. The presence of Wolf tank in Italy at several locations is also facilitating, so that operations have so far been well assured. Even though there has so far been hardly any negative impact on business success, the local management nevertheless points out that the expansion of the danger zones could lead to significant losses in sales, Ebitda and pre-tax profit in 2020.
